Greetings!

As members of the White River Buddhist Temple we are honored to be hosting the 72nd annual Northwest District Buddhist Convention. We wish to welcome our distinguished guests, our Dharma friends and all members of the Northwest Sangha.

The theme for this year's convention is:

Compassion: A feeling you get if you are a true human; the desire to help or, at the very least, see what you can do.

Gratitude: Cultivating gratitude leads to the direct experience of the interconnectedness of all of life.

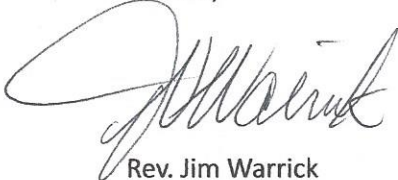

Community: Develop a feeling of fellowship with others who live near us and share similar interests, goals, social values and responsibilities.

We are glad you can join us as we explore how to apply these Buddhist principles in our lives and in our dealings with others.

We give special thanks to the convention committee members, sangha members, sponsors, and ministers and friends who are making this annual gathering possible. So, sit back, relax, let your hair down (if you have any) and enjoy this reunion with all your Dharma friends and family.

Hopefully by gathering this weekend, we will learn things that will help us to lead a more joyous, happy and grateful life.

Gassho,

Rev. Jim Warrick
